

Crestchic wins AIM Company of the Year Award

Crestchic Plc is proud to announce that it has won the prestigious AIM Company of the Year Award at the Shares Awards 2022.

The awards, which are run by Shares Magazine, the leading online resource for private investors, celebrate the best of the UK's financial services industry and publicly listed businesses. As part of the celebrations, Shares Magazine readers/users are given the chance to vote for a select number of individual company achievements, including the AIM Company of the Year Award, which recognises the growth potential of the winning company. Crestchic was one of six companies shortlisted for the Award, including Bens Creek, Fulham Shore, i3 Energy, Igas Energy and Shoe Zone. The Award was presented to Chris Caldwell, Managing Director, Peter Harris, Executive Chairman and to Paul Brickman, Commercial Director. The Awards event took place at the Grosvenor House Hotel, London, on 22nd November 2022.

Peter Harris, Executive Chairman at Crestchic, commented:

“Winning the Company of the Year Award is a testament to the hard work and dedication of our employees, senior leadership team, and Board of Directors. We have remained strong throughout the Covid Pandemic, and are experiencing our fourth record year of orders, annually exporting to more than thirty different countries. In the last year alone, we have expanded our footprint in the US and Europe, recently adding a 2000 m2 factory at our UK HQ. In these recent unprecedented times, Crestchic has bucked the trend and is investing heavily in both its workforce and facilities to maintain a sustainable future for the business and deliver growth for our shareholders.”

“It is especially pleasing to receive this recognition of our journey so far, as well as our strong growth prospects as a global leader in the markets in which we operate. Thank you to all who voted for us, and to our staff teams for all of their hard work.”